COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF ENVIRONMENTAL AFFA
DEPARTMENT OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE
251 CAUSEWAY ST., BOSTON, MA 02114-2151

August, 2002

Greetings:

On behalf of the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture, it is my pleasure to introduce you to more than 200 Commonwealth working farms listed in this directory. With recreational and educational activities ranging from farm tours to hay rides, farm animal viewing to pick-your-own produce, or just visiting to observe and relax, these farms offer you a vast variety of enjoyable outdoor experiences.

This booklet gives you only a brief description of each farm – you must see them to fully appreciate all they have to offer. Many of the farms have their own brochure, which will give you a more detailed picture of their activities and seasonal events.

Agri-tourism is fast growing trend in agriculture that merges the world of travel with the experience of farming , and your food and fiber production and offers you an enjoyable, insider's view of agriculture.

During your visit, support your local farms by purchasing seasonal, sun-ripened, fresh fruits and vegetables. Many farms also offer a wide variety home-baked goods, fine fruit preserves and one of a kind craft items. Many farms also host company outings and birthday parties. Your purchases help insure that local farms will remain in business for many years to come. Massachusetts farms help to keep our local economy strong while helping to preserve the scenic beauty of our landscape.

I hope this guide leads you to many enjoyable farming adventures. Enjoy them in good health.

Sincerely,

Douglas P. Gillespie
Commissioner of Food and Agriculture
